Dear Club Youth Coordinator,

Congratulations on having been chosen for a very important task – helping mold and guide the future of the Arabian horse industry through its youth. This online manual will help you get started or give you new ideas on how to best utilize all the tools the Arabian Horse Association (AHA) has to promote your youth and keep the Arabian horse industry flourishing for years to come.

Please read this manual to learn about guidelines you can follow on a local club level which impact the Arabian horse industry locally, regionally, and nationally. It will provide you with tools to make your job easier with information about the Arabian Horse Youth Association (AHYA).

With your help, AHYA and its youth programs will continue to grow rapidly and the future of the Arabian horse industry will be bright! Take the reins – and tell everyone about the endless possibilities the Arabian horse breed has to offer young people. Share with them your love and knowledge of the Arabian horse and what this magnificent animal taught you as you were growing up about responsibility, caring, patience, leadership, self-esteem, the list goes on and on.

“Show me a youth who demonstrates kindness and empathy towards animals, and I’ll show you a future society with hope and promise.” – Toni Robinson

Enjoy this exciting teaching experience! Remember – any goal is attainable if you only want to reach high enough to achieve it. Thank you for supporting the Arabian horse and its future!

Sincerely,

Brenna Whitlock

Getting Started...

Wanting to start an Arabian horse youth club in your area takes more than patience, time, love of the breed, love of kids, commitment and knowledge – it takes passion.

“Passion is a driving force, an energy that pushes you forward and compels you to act in the face of all obstacles. Passion moves you through the challenges and propels you towards your goals. It is a premium high-octane fuel for living.” – Ralph Marston

If you truly have a passion for watching the magical things that occur when an Arabian horse and a child grow together, you will be an excellent club youth coordinator.

This online manual will be a useful tool to you in the Arabian horse industry. It will serve as a comprehensive resource for ideas, programs, and contacts. If you are interested in getting a general horse industry youth leaders manual that has educational lesson plans in it and sample questions and answers, contact the American Youth Horse Council (AYHC). This nationwide horse youth leadership organization offers several publications which address a wide range of topics, including equine care and management, activities, lesson plans, and much more! Please visit the AYHC website at www.ayhc.com or call 817.320.2005. (Be sure to tell them AHA sent you!)

AHYA Constitution

Arabian Horse Youth Association Goals

Arabian Horse Youth Association was founded in 1994 to instill leadership, foster camaraderie, provide organization and promote a sense of community to Arabian horse youth. It is modeled after its parent association – the Arabian Horse Association.

The AHYA Board of Directors is made of a Regional Youth Director from each region, plus five Executive Officers (president, vice president, treasurer, secretary, and immediate past president). These Executive Officers are elected annually at the AHYA Convention held at Youth Nationals.

This association has national working committees. These youth committees have chairs, who oversee committee progress. The committee chairs take ideas back to the AHYA Board, with can then pass motions on key issues affecting the Arabian horse youth community. The AHYA Board then presents these motions to the AHA Board, Committees and Commissions through the Youth Committee for final approval.

AHYA Convention

The AHYA convention is held once a year just before the start of Youth Nationals. Here youth delegates from clubs across the U.S. & Canada come together to talk about issues ranging from showing to promotions to fundraising. It's a great way to meet new friends and get involved! All AHA Youth members are welcome. To find out more about the AHYA Convention please visit ArabianHorses.org/youth.

Club Youth Coordinator Guidelines

Below is a brief list of local, regional, and national level responsibilities for an AHA Club Youth Coordinator.

Local Level

Local-level mission for AHA Club Youth Coordinators: To promote the Arabian horse and AHYA programs to interest youth and to increase your club's youth membership and AHYA membership.

Support

Develop a strong youth membership within your Arabian horse club.

Organize

Create club bylaws or adopt the adult club bylaws as your own. Elect youth officers as needed. Have the adult positions held youth mentors.

Communicate

Communicate at least twice monthly. Have a Youth meeting at least once a year. Begin a regular youth newsletter by email or snail mail. Mailing labels are available for purchase from AHA.

Involve

Encourage each youth member to get involved with all AHYA youth programs. Create a youth judging team within your club. Organize a Regional Youth Team Tournament team for your youth club. Get involved with the AHA Youth Committee.

Volunteer

Have youth members help at shows or rides your club puts on, such as working in the cook shack, doing fundraisers, working the gate, helping the cleanup crew, working in the show office, etc.

Each Region and club is unique and activities will vary among organizations.

Club Youth Coordinator Guidelines

Outreach

Encourage your youth members to communicate with others about Arabian horses and AHA. This would include working at an all-breed horse show, helping with a horse fair booth, and so on. Speeches given to other groups are a wonderful way to connect with people, too (sample speeches are provided later in this manual). Consider implementing an incentive program recognizing these types of efforts.

Regional Level

Network

Get together with other Arabian horse youth clubs in your area and have all the regional youth and leaders meet once or twice a year for brainstorming and camaraderie. Organize this meeting with your Regional Youth Director during your regional show and/or regional mini-convention if you have one.

Fundraise

Help with regional fundraising projects that then trickle down to help support all youth clubs in your area.

Promotion

Guide youth in your club to go outside the horse industry to attract new potential Arabian horse owners and members for your club and AHYA. Have your youth speak about the Arabian horse at local meetings for scout troops, key clubs, honor societies, etc. (sample speeches are provided later in this manual).

Outreach

Guide youth in your club to promote membership in your club and in AHYA by attending 4-H, FFA, Pony Club, NRHA, USDF, and other all-breed horse clubs in your area. Many of these clubs have youth (and adults) in them that ride Arabians but may not know your club exists, or think AHA membership is only if they show. There are many non-showing programs for them and also programs for those that compete in open shows.

Club Youth Coordinator Guidelines

National Level

Communicate

Send copies of articles you write on the youth activities of your club for your club newsletter, local paper etc. to the AHA Youth Department.

Use advertisements in your club or region newsletters to let Arabian horse youth know about the opportunities available to them with AHYA youth programs.

Contact your adult delegate to discuss youth issues to make sure they are brought up at the annual AHA Membership Convention.

Submit your club's youth information and updates to be included in any general regional communications.

Involve

Inform youth in your club about Arabian horse industry scholarships available to youth members.

Let your youth members know that any of them can be on a national AHYA committee. At convention they need to sign up for which one interests them. Guide your youth members in learning how to run for your regional youth director position and AHYA Executive Committee offices.

Fundraise

Help with AHYA national fundraising projects by sponsoring a youth activity, donating items to the AHYA Silent Auction at AHA Convention, bidding on items, buying raffle tickets for the AHYA raffle fundraiser, sponsoring the Youth Nationals Qualifier T-Shirt, etc. Visit arabianhorses.org/youth for a sponsorship opportunity.

Get Going

Not that you are familiar with AHA, AHYA, programs and opportunities available to your youth members, Get Going with these great ideas!

Public Speeches

Encourage your youth members (and perhaps interested adults) to give presentations to other organizations and groups. These need not be horse organizations, since horse lovers wanting to expand their involvement are everywhere!

Sample Arabian Horse Informational Speech

This is just a sample speech to provide your youth members; they can expand upon this speech as necessary when presenting it to other youth clubs and horse clubs. Remember to add interest with the use of visual aids! It is also recommended that you pass out promotional materials, which you can request from arabianhorses.org under "Marketplace"

Introduction: Hello, I am (your name) and I'm the (your region) Youth Director for the Arabian Horse Youth Association. Region (your region) includes (list the states). Today I am going to talk to you about the Arabian horse, the association that revolves around this great breed, and how you as youth interested in horses can get involved. The Arabian is the oldest breed of horse and has been pure for centuries. Almost all modern horse breeds have Arabian horse blood in them.

It's only natural that people are drawn to the Arabian horse. Its inquisitive nature, elegant dished face, large eyes and personable attitude are some of the characteristics that make the Arabian horse so special.

1st point: From the Bedouin era in the Middle East to the modern day, the Arabian horse is a versatile and beautiful animal to behold.

During the Bedouin era, Bedouin warriors prized their horses, especially mares, above all of their possessions and even their family. It was not uncommon for Arabian mares to share a tent at night with their master and his family. This treatment has inbred a love of people into the Arabian horse.

Transition: And people love Arabian horses, as much as Arabian horses love people. The association that helps bring these magnificent horses together with their human owners is the Arabian Horse Association.

2nd point: Arabians excel in all areas of competition and make terrific friends and trail companions. The Arabian Horse Association is an organization dedicated to the Arabian horse breeds, with more than 40,000 members throughout the U.S. and Canada. Located in Aurora, CO, AHA approves over 400 shows and distance riding competitions in the United States and Canada every year. AHA formulates rules and regulations for the Arabian horse community, disseminates breed information, sponsors four national Arabian horse shows and administers the Arabian, Half-Arabian, and Anglo-Arabian registries. Purebred Arabians must be verified as the offspring of horses registered as Arabians with the Arabian Horse Association or a recognized foreign registry. Only those horses whose lineage can be traced back to the deserts of the Middle East are eligible for registration as Purebred Arabians. Half-Arabians can be registered as long as one parent is a registered Arabian, while the other parent can be of any other breed or type. Anglo-Arabians may be any combination of registered Arabian or Thoroughbred provided there is no more or less than a certain percentage of Arabian blood in them.

Transition: If you become a youth member of AHA you are automatically part of the Arabian Horse Youth Association.

3rd point: AHYA has been in existence since 1994 to serve the over 5,000 youth members of the AHA. It has a 23-member Youth Board comprised of five executive youth officers and 18 regional youth directors. This Association is for anyone under the age of 19 that loves horses. You do not have to own an Arabian horse, or any horse at all to benefit from AHYA.

AHYA has numerous youth programs available to its members for those who show, trail ride or even write stories about Arabian horses. These programs include: youth membership in the AHA, the Amateur Achievement Awards Program, the Regional Youth Team Tournament, the Youth of the Year program, and the Arabian Horse Youth Judging Contest. Spectacular prizes and awards are given for each of these contests.

A youth membership with AHA is $20 per calendar year. The benefits include; the chance to serve on the AHYA Board of Directors, the opportunity to participate in youth programs, the right to vote on issues affecting Arabian horse youth, the ability to show in AHA shows, access to the Members Only portion of the AHA website, and a discount subscription to the Modern Arabian Horse magazine and the AHYA Insiders.

Review: This is a brief introduction to the Arabian horse, the Arabian Horse Association, and the Arabian Horse Youth Association.

Conclusion: If you would like more information about the Arabian horse, AHA or youth programs please see me afterwards for handouts. Thank you for your time.

Speech Demonstration

Some of your youth members may also be involved with FFA, Pony Club, 4-H, etc. Many of these youth will already know about Speech Demonstrations. For those of your kids interested in public speaking and doing demonstrations this is a great learning exercise for a club meeting or a great club youth contest!

Inspect the presentation room for space constraints, table or easel availability, etc.
Smile, relax and have fun. This is a great learning experience!

Ideas

Club Activities

Have your youth club put on a local trail ride, moonlight ride, Christmas caroling on horseback event, or something else for your club that don't show. Also, keep in mind that great youth get-togethers don't have to involve horses at all! How about going to a local water park, the movies, or another experience where there is not a horse in sight and the youth can get to know each other outside of the equine world? Have your youth identified what interests them so they make the choice! See below for more club activity ideas.

AHYA programs – Find out about the many youth programs AHA youth members can participate in through the youth website.

Farm Visits – Many local farms welcome youth visits. Ask people you know if they would be willing to host your youth members, or find a Discovery Farm from ArabianHorses.org/get local Training/Riding Clinics – Trainers and instructors are often willing to take the time to put on a clinic for youth. Topics could include a wide range of interests from the recreational rider to advanced horsemanship and showing techniques. Consider safety, grooming, facility use, sportsmanship, professional opportunities in the horse industry, or whatever else you can think of! A similar idea is to ask one or more trainers to put on a clinic as a youth fundraiser.

Judging Clinics – Invite a carded Arabian horse judge or experienced horse judging coach to help educate team members for competition, or better inform exhibitors and spectators.

Veterinary Clinics – Local veterinarians are usually very willing to speak to youth groups on a wide variety of equine health subjects.

Breeding Clinics – A larger local breeder and/or veterinarian would be the best source for this. Topic ideas include broodmare and stallion management, problem mares, natural and AI breeding techniques, genetics, foaling, and care of foals.

Nutrition clinics – Ask a feed company or feed supply store to put you in touch with a nutritional expert.

Exhibitor Fashion Clinic – Educate your youth on proper show ring attire and flattering show styles for horse and exhibitor. Invite a large equine store or clothing specialist, or organize it yourself. Use the kids as demonstrators or models, which will encourage their participation and interest. You may want to hold a used clothing sale or swap, too!

Equipment Program – A trainer or well-educated representative from a tack store could inform on: selection of pleasure equipment, training equipment or show equipment with respect to riding style, horse type, and experience; equipment adjustment for horse and rider; care and maintenance of equipment. Consider holding this program with a tack swap or used tack sale.

Record Keeping Program – Access a fellow club member who is actively involved in the horse business and keeps excellent records. Show kids how to keep health records, award records, and financial records, including budgeting.

Volunteers Recognition – Set up a point or hour award system to encourage volunteerism at horse shows and other events.

Pizza or Pool Party – Such parties can be held during a show, an adult meeting, or just as a social event by itself.

Horse Shows – Take field trips to shows of other breeds.

Theme Party – Hold a Halloween party, Christmas Barn party, Valentine's Day dances, and so on. Play volleyball in the arena, do teambuilding activities, or any other non-horse related activity.

Field Trips – Plan day trips to see horse-related activities such as the Lipizzaner's perform, a horse pull, a polo match, or a race track.

Trail Rides – Plan a trail ride and cookout. Include families and friends and plan a time for your group to get together to eat, sing around the campfire, play games, or tell stories.

Retreat – Organize a youth retreat for a day or a weekend. Host it at a friend's cabin, or if the group is larger, at a summer camp (inquire about renting a facility for a few days). Give participants a checklist of items to bring such as clothes, sleeping bag, food, etc. Plan games, teambuilding, and lots of fun!

Ideas cont.

Handicapped Riding – Visit and volunteer for a day at a program for handicapped riders.

Nursing Home Visit – Schedule a visit to a local nursing home with videos, pictures, and even a gentle horse you trailer in for petting.

Youth Horse Show

Some Regions host all-youth shows each year. Find out if there's an All-Youth show in your area by viewing a complete Recognized Competition list on ArabianHorses.org Event Calendar or contact your Regional Youth Coordinator on the youth website under "Who's Who".

The show managers and volunteers who put on these shows are very receptive to answering questions and helping other Arabian horse youth clubs around the country get started putting on all-youth shows. Because shows are very busy, though, you might just want to exchange contact information so you can visit at a better time.

Fun Show

An all-breed fun show can be a big hit! These draw the local community, are normally not as competitive as a rated show, and provide a great stepping stone to more serious competition. If you need to know more about how to put on a fun show, please order your copy of the AHA Fun Show Kit from Arabianhorses.org under "Marketplace". It will give you step-by-step instructions of how to put on a fun show from start to finish, a sample class list, a sample prize list, sample judges' cards, class sheets, entry forms, etc.

Regional Youth Retreats

Want to get all the youth from all the clubs around your region together for brainstorming, camaraderie and just having a good time? Follow in the footsteps of other AHA regions and start your own regional youth retreat.

Youth and Distance Riding

Distance riding is an equestrian sport that involved a horse and rider team traveling long distances (typically 25 miles or more in a day) over varied terrain. This growing sport encompasses several types of competitions that are all uniquely suited to Arabian, Half- and Anglo-Arabian horses due to their incredible endurance and soundness. Find out more about Distance riding from Arabianhorses.org under “Competition/AHA Recognized.” AHA has a guide book available for purchase called To Finish is to Win – A Manual for the Beginning Distance Rider. Order it from Arabianhorses.org under “Marketplace”.

Once you have a group of riders ready to try this sport, consider hosting a small competitive trail ride or endurance ride. It can be a “fun version” or one designed as a learning experience. The key is to find a veterinarian who has judged the specific type of ride that you are considering holding.

Youth Horse Judging Team

Youth Horse Judging teaches participants to judge horses objectively, organize their thoughts, and effectively articulate a well-organized defense. Often an excellent opportunity to build knowledge useful in the show ring, horse judging also provides youth with the chance to build confidence, learning skills, and lifetime friendships. Most contests offer great prizes and some, including the national level AHA Arabian Horse Youth Judging Contest, have scholarships! Horse Judging can be an active interest for Arabian horse, 4-H, FFA, Junior College, and Senior College youth. Find out more on Arabianhorses.org/youth

Hippology Contest

If you are looking for an educational contest for both you and adult club members, Hippology may be for you! A written test of general and breed-specific horse knowledge, this type of contest allows book smart and horse smart people to go head-to-head. Quizzing stations often include, tack, and feed, breeds, diseases, and structure. A National Arabian Horse Hippology Contest is held each year at Youth Nationals.

Fundraising

All local youth clubs need money for their activities and programs. While some clubs are able to provide some financial support, many youth activities are required to be self-supporting. Your club will probably ask you, the youth leader, how you plan to raise funds to support youth activities. Face the daunting prospect of raising funds and answering funding questions by following these steps.

Plan

Decide what you need to raise money for
Determine the amount of money needed
Identify the tasks associated with these decisions
Organize people to fulfill these tasks
Choose fundraising activities
Establish a timetable

Work with Volunteers

List specific jobs
Break down jobs into simple and specific tasks
Ask generally or individually for each person's help (remember to ask the kids!)
Involve as many people as possible
Reward and thank volunteers for their assistance
Review who did what and how to improve the process in the future

Fundraising Ideas

These fundraisers have worked for Arabian horse youth clubs across the United States and Canada. Remember, these are ideas. Please feel free to be creative!

Silent Auctions – These are legal in any state or province and as long as you get donated items, you can make quite a bit of money with relatively little inconvenience. You will need bid sheets for each item and a form to sign up bidders. It is better to use bidder numbers rather than names so that bids can be anonymous until the close of the auction. Plan the silent auction time and location carefully to ensure serious bidders will be in attendance. Popular hosting events for silent auctions include year-end banquets and regional shows.

Raffles – The potential to make money on donated products can be higher with raffles than silent auctions because it costs each person very little to buy a chance. However, in many states and provinces, raffles and other games of chance are not legal (or you need a license in order to run one). Contact your local government games and licensing division to find out the requirements for where you live. The success of your raffle will be dependent on good publicity and having lots of volunteers to sell tickets! Involve youth by having them choose responsibilities. Allow them to take ownership of – and pride in – their success!

Grocery Store Merchandise Certificate Programs – A bulk discount is offered to organizations that pre-purchase certificates. Your club pays a discounted amount for the certificates then sells them to members, neighbors, and friends at the actual value, and your club garners the profit. Many little leagues and scout troops use this fundraiser, as everyone has to buy groceries! Contact your local grocery store food chain for more information.

Event Kickbacks – If your club puts on local rides, shows or clinics, your youth club could help with these events and ask for a portion of the profits to come back to your youth club as a fundraiser. This can be a win-win situation as the show can save on hired labor and the youth can earn for their activities!

State Horse Fair – Contact your state horse extension specialist or state horse council to find out the time and location of your local fair. You could have a booth there on the Arabian horse and hand out promotional material. Order your promotional material from Arabianhorses.org under “Marketplace”. You could also sell items from the booth (buy them at a discount through the above mentioned organizations and then sell them for a profit).

Jackpot Classes – Make arrangements with a local or regional show to have a fun jackpot class. A portion of each entry fee is paid out to the winner of the class, with the remainder benefiting your youth programs. Examples of fun jackpot classes are egg ‘n spoon, bareback dollar bill, men’s sidesaddle, funny costume class, etc. See Fun Show Kit for more ideas (available online from arabianhorses.org under “Marketplace”).

Candy Sales – Contact your local Little League or Scout Group to find out where to get candy. Normally, you receive $0.50 for each $1 candy bar sold.

Braiding/Banding – Take kids with solid braiding/banding skills to events where they can braid or band horses for exhibitors. Split the profits between your club and youth exhibitors.

Special Events – Host special events at a member’s house or barn. Ideas include having a Haunted Farm; with can be a great success with the right investment of creativity, commitment, and publicity. What about sleigh or wagon rides around the holidays?

Contract Labor – Contract your youth members to work in the stall office or clean stalls during or after a county or state 4-H show. With some hard work, your club could make a bundle!

Fun Classes – During a break in a show’s schedule, run a fun class! Although nearly anything you can think of could work, here are some past crowd-pleasers: tandem bareback, bridle less pleasure, carrot trail (lead a horse through a simple trail course using only a carrot). By charging a reasonable entry fee you can turn a fun event into a fundraiser with little effort! Be sure to plan ahead with the show management and advertise in the show program and/or with signs.

Scrabble Rides – Riders pay a minimal fee to enter a fun trail ride. Picking up letters from stations along the ride route, the person who makes the “best” word at the end of the ride wins a jackpot of $100. Creative variations on this idea will make for more fun events. For example, why not an Outrageous Outfit ride? Riders have choices of various clothing items at each station and crown approval signifies the best outfit at the end of the ride!

Sample Budget

Below is a sample budget your club can use to help determine how much it might cost to run an effective Arabian horse youth program. These are costs you might expect to incur during the course of the year. Each club is different, however most youth programs submit annual budgets like this to their board for approval to financially support youth programs.

Revenues

Fundraisers your club puts on during the year. Possible proceeds from the youth classes at your club's show – if your youth club members volunteer to assure it's a success. Sponsorships from horse-related and general sector businesses, private contributors, etc. etc. which donate money, items or gift certificates toward fundraisers.

Expenses

When applicable, pursue bids (price quotes) from at least three companies to ensure you're getting the best deal.

Club and Regional Meetings/mini-convention

Budget for a conference room. By having the meeting at a showground in conjunction with a show you will save on the location fee. Food is a great draw! Budget for pizza or another inexpensive, kid-friendly meal. Also check out using the show's caterer, who may work with you on price.

Contests

Have a mini contest in your club or region, and base it on the national contest. This also applies to Hippology, Horse Fairs, Horse Bowls, etc. Budget for awards, administration costs (mailing, setup, and displays)

Judging Team

Budget $100 entry fee per team, plus airfare, hotel, van rental, etc. Team members typically pay for their own meals.

Regional Youth Team Tournament

Budget $10 per team per division. AHA gives awards to the champion team of each division per region. Consider the cost of any additional awards your region or club may want to provide.

Amateur Achievement Awards

AHA recognizes the overall winner of this program. Clubs and regions sometimes choose to give extra awards to their most successful participants. Your club or region, for example, could honor top youth participants. Budget according to the cost of the awards you wish to provide.

Arabian Horse Youth Scholarships

With the constantly rising cost of attending college, money earmarked for higher education is certainly handy. Here are some of the scholarships the Arabian horse industry offers and how you can get applications for your youth members.

Arabian Horse Youth Judging Contest

This national level Horse Judging Contest is a part of the U.S. National Arabian & Half-Arabian Championship Horse Show. Entry is available to teams from AHA clubs, state 4-H and FFA clubs, and colleges. Various monetary scholarships and awards are earned. Please contact the AHA Youth Department for more information.

AHA Youth of the Year Scholarship

AHA youth members are anything but average, and we know it! In fact, AHA offers the Youth of the Year award, which honors one outstanding youth member annually. The Youth of the Year is selected for his or her achievements and contributions to the Arabian horse industry, AHA, and his or her community. In addition to previous achievements, the successful Youth of the Year candidate will show dedication to the Arabian breed and a desire to remain involved in the industry, serving as an ambassador and role model within the Arabian horse community. The winner is featured on the cover of Modern Arabian Horse magazine, honored on the youth website, recognized at Youth Nationals, and receives a $1,000 scholarship.

All applications are due September 1 of the given year. Please see the current AHA Handbook for complete rules.

Regional Level Scholarships

Some regions may have funds available for scholarship purposes. Please contact your Regional Director for additional information regarding the application procedure.

In addition, several scholarships are available through the Arabian Horse Foundation and more information can be found at TheArabianHorseFoundation.org.

AHYA Convention

The AHYA Convention is held just before the start of the Youth National Arabian & Half-Arabian Championship Horse Show. It is one partial day consisting of youth committee working sessions and an open general session. You should strongly encourage your youth club members to have delegates and guests attend convention. The Arabian horse industry needs to hear from its youth!

Committees

Youth committees consist of youth members who are interested in a particular area of the Arabian horse industry. Any youth member can sign up to be on a committee. The current AHYA Committees are:

- Canadian Nationals
- Equitation/Showmanship
- Membership/Fundraising/Promotions
- Regional/National Classes
- Youth Activities
- Distance
- Sport Horse
- Working Western

At the AHYA Convention, all youth members are invited to provide input during the committee sessions regardless if they are on that committee or not. Below is more information about being on a local or regional level committee.

Committee Responsibilities

If you have a large youth club, have committees work on particular projects for your club. Here are some tips for committee chairs and members.

Committee Chair

Responsibilities:

- Act as the main contact for your committee
- Remind the committee members of their responsibility to maintain a budget, adhere to the AHYA Constitution in the AHA Handbook and to the AHA Code of Conduct.
- Ensure that committee tasks are clearly defined
- Coordinate meetings or conference calls with committee members
- Ensure that minutes are kept and filed
- Prepare an agenda for each meeting
- Listen to concerns of your entire youth club even if they aren't on the committee
- Provide written reports to club officers or delegate this responsibility to someone else
- Follow your club's rules for everything your committee is trying to accomplish

Before the meetings:

- Plan the agenda
- Know of reports from different officers and committees
- Assign responsibilities – for example, a timer, a secretary, etc.
- Coordinate the meeting time and location or the conference call time
- Keep in touch with your committee members

At the meeting:

- Promote free debate but don't let the meeting drag
- Keep tone of meeting impersonal
- Don't let the meeting get out of hand
- Insist that all members address the chair
- Refer to yourself as the chair, not as "I"
- Leave the chair if you wish to debate
- If in doubt on an issue, ask for a vote
- Keep the members clearly informed
- Be sure to correct the voting procedure
- Always take a negative vote, even if it is not the majority
- Always announce the results

“A participating member is a vital asset to any organization.”

Committee Members

Responsibilities:

Determine whether you are willing to make the commitment of time, energy, and money required to attend those meetings or be a part of those conference calls. All members of committees and boards will adhere to the rules, policies and procedures of AHA at all times.

Tips:

- Serve on committees
- Be an active participant
- Participate in as many meetings or conference calls as possible
- Before speaking be recognized by the chair.
- Stick to the goals of the committee and do not stray and try to solve the world's problems
- Be courteous even when disagreeing
- Help the group achieve its goal
- Volunteer!

General Session

The General Session is for all youth members and their guests to attend. Eligible youth will be seated in the front rows and will be the ones voting for the national AHYA officers. Great presentations and informative speakers will be part of this general session as well.

Showing at Youth Nationals

Initiated in 1993, Youth Nationals has become AHA's premier family event. An average of six family members accompany each young rider for a week of competition and fun-filled events which include AHYA Convention, games, contests, parades, and parties. This premier all-junior rider horse show is one of the largest in the nation. The event offers free admission for the entire week. Exhibitors can enter the show online too! Check out more information under the "Competitions" section at arabianhorses.org.

The AHYA Convention is for youth. Tell the AHYA Board about any ideas your youth have improving AHYA by having youth members write to the AHA Youth Department. Their items will be added to the agenda for the next AHYA board meeting.

Thank you

For your continued support of Arabian horse youth.

The Arabian horse will thrive for years to come!
