The 2024 United States Arabian and Half-Arabian National Championship Horse Show Returns to Tulsa

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Greenwood Village, CO – September 30, 2024 – The 2024 United States Arabian and Half-Arabian National Championship Horse Show is set to return to Tulsa, Oklahoma, from October 17-26, 2024, for another thrilling year of competition!

Now in its 58th year, the U.S. National Championship returns for another year in Tulsa, showcasing exhibitors and horses from across North America. Competitors will compete for top honors in over 20 disciplines, including Country English Pleasure, Reining, Hunter Pleasure, and Driving. With nearly 2,000 horses expected to compete, there's something for everyone—whether you're a seasoned equestrian or a first-time spectator. Best of all, admission is free for the entire event, making it a great experience for the whole family to enjoy world-class Arabian horse competition.

This year, attendees can enjoy free T.A.I.L. (Total Arabian Interaction and Learning) tours, which will take place throughout the show, giving the public a behind-the-scenes look at a national horse show. Participants will have the opportunity to tour the barns, meet Arabian horses, and learn about the care and dedication that go into preparing for competition.

In addition to the tours, the event will feature over 30 vendors at the Exchange Center, offering everything from equestrian gear to unique gifts. Visitors can also look forward to a free Exhibitor Party on October 17th at 6:30 p.m., where food, drinks, and a chance to meet competitors will kick off the festivities.

Youth will take center stage during the Youth Judging and Hippology Contest, where teams from across the U.S. will compete in judging classes and test their equine knowledge. This event highlights the importance of youth engagement in the Arabian horse community.

As we prepare for another U.S. National Championship, Stan Morey, Executive Director of the Arabian Horse Association, shares the following heartfelt message:

“It is my pleasure to welcome you to the United States National Arabian and Half-Arabian Championship Horse Show. This event serves as a venue for exhibitors, owners, and trainers to come together to compete, connect, and share in the love of the Arabian breed. While we remember those we've lost along the way and ride in their honor, we look to the future with optimism, energy, and excitement, eagerly awaiting new champions and legendary horses to emerge.”

For those unable to attend in person, fans can follow all the action online with the U.S. Nationals Live Feed and by engaging with AHA on social media. Be sure to follow along on Facebook,
